

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

BETWEEN:

Rex

v.

(Accused)

CRIMINAL CODE, SECTION 525 - DETENTION REVIEW

WAIVER FORM

WAIVER

The accused (print name of accused person) understands that they are entitled to have their continuing detention in custody reviewed by a Justice of the Supreme Court of British Columbia; they are entitled to be personally present when the Court conducts the review; and by instructing counsel to deliver a waiver they are giving up their right to have their continuing detention in custody reviewed under s. 525 of the Criminal Code for this application.

I, (print name of counsel for accused) confirm that I am counsel for the accused. I confirm that I have reviewed the relevant information and material regarding the circumstances of the accused's present detention. I further confirm that I have provided advice to the accused regarding their right to a detention review under s. 525 of the Criminal Code, including the nature of the right and consequences of a waiver, and the accused waives that right for this application.
